OBJECTIVES

- Social innovation practices to implement a potential incubator for new young social entrepreneurship models where economic-dimension dimension and the social-supportive one are combined
- Strengthening individual abilities to identify and become engaged in innovative and sustainable solutions
- Promoting social entrepreneurship to support civic active participation and to challenge youth unemployment
- Increasing skills and opportunities for new solutions to solve local socio-economical criticalities by developing participants' knowledge, abilities, inclinations and skills necessary to start personal initiative for social entrepreneurship itineraries.
- Implementing an itinerary to develop and stabilize professional, technical, economic, management, relations, communication and socio-cultural skills

The goals of the project are:

- O1_ improving youth workers' knowledge on social economy issues
- O2_ Strengthening young people abilities to start social entrepreneurship and develop social innovation strategies
- O3_ Developing the level of knowledge and key skills in social entrepreneurship and employment field based on dialogue

CONSISTENCY WITH EU VALUES

- In line with the horizontal priority of the Programme: “Common values, civic engagement and participation”, creative and participative methodologies will be introduced to enable the involvement of local communities in the partner countries. It aims at creating social entrepreneurs skilled with management and administrative abilities; promoting social entrepreneurship sustainability to support creative and cultural organization purposes, shared values and cooperation practices to stimulate active civic participation.
- Our project contributes to active citizenship promotion and youth empowerment (priority of the youth sector) by realizing events in local territories where young professionals could act as multipliers. Gatherings will be organized in local communities of the partner’s organization aimed at promoting processes of peaceful coexistence.

.INFO ABOUT THE CITY

Lecce is the main city of Salento area. It is called “The Florence of the South” because of its rich Baroque architecture; it is a small town of 95,766 inhabitants, where any place is reachable by walking. Lecce has a unique style, thanks to Roman age monuments and overall, to the magnificent 17th century buildings, characterized by the color of the local stone, tending to blonde nuance. Old town is worth visiting by walking because of its churches, gates, pinnacles, monuments and houses in baroque style.

Duomo di Lecce, its square is an outdoor museum. Maria Santissima Assunta cathedral is characterized by a bell tower, two façades, while one is sober the other is richly adorned.

Piazza Sant’Oronzo, entitled to the saint patron of the city, a masterpiece of historical proofs telling about different ages.

City gates : Porta Napoli, Porta Rudiae and Porta San Biagio are arched openings directly leading to the old town.

Santa Croce Basilica: the most relevant model of the baroque from Lecce; decoration on its façade are so lavish that leave speechless.

Amphitheater: dated back to the Augustan age, is one of the most important amphitheatres in Puglia and tells the splendor of the ancient Lupiae.

Roman theatre: discovered by chance in 1929, this ancient theatre is probably dated to Augustan age.

Carlo V Castle: It is the largest castle in Puglia. It is an exhibition space.

Convitto Palmieri: it hosts the old provincial library, permanent exhibition on Printing and Carmelo Bene archive.

Sigismondo Castromediano Museum: archaeological museum.

MUST Historical museum of the city: permanent exhibition and modern art gallery.

Biscozzi/Rimbaud Foundation: modern and contemporary art gallery.
